APEX-Micro and Leading Power Supply/Conversion OEM Enjoy Strength of Five Year Manufacturing Agreement

Long-term Manufacturing Supply Contract

Vancouver, BC, Canada, August 2003: APEX-Micro today announced closing manufacturing agreement with leading power supply/conversion OEM to provide leading micro-manufactured electronics assemblies for the next five years. This long-term agreement is a terrific milestone for both APEX-Micro and their new partner, as a component of a lengthy and meaningful relationship. This relationship brings manufacturing stability to an OEM in a time of economic downturn, as well as further positioning APEX-Micro as an industry leading EMS provider. Both Partners will benefit from continual technological focus, as well as the improved manufacturing skill that a Five Sigma manufacturer can provide. For the power supply company, the ISO 9001:2000 stamp of total quality management also furthers the confidence of knowing that quality electronics manufacturing is exactly what they will receive.

APEX-Micro, as well as their new partner in success, is excited to share a future of advancing technologies and a thriving partnership for years to come. This long-term manufacturing agreement has, and will continue to open new opportunities for both companies as they both move into the future together.
